

Making better use of housing stock in London

Tuesday 16th March 2010

Following on from our successful conference on Tackling Homelessness in London in February 2009, East Thames Group, together with the East London Housing Partnership, will be looking at effective ways to make better use of housing stock in London.

This morning event includes talks by leading housing experts on making better use of housing stock in London and a range of workshops that will look at various issues that create a challenge for everyone dedicated to reducing homelessness in the capital.
